

ABSTRACT

A new structure having mesopores is provided.
The present invention provides a structure that has a plurality of mesopores wherein the structure has a 5 dendritic framework and mesopores passing through the framework in the direction intersecting the longitudinal direction of the framework. The present invention also provides a porous material, a sensor and a method for detecting a specimen that take 10 advantage of the new structure.